DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-4 and 14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Kotowski et al (USP 6,198,645). Kotowski et al. (USP 6,198,645) discloses a plurality of capacitors (A, B and C) with a plurality of switches (S1-S12) that are alternately connecting the capacitors in series and parallel.

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 5-13, 15 19 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
4. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: None of the prior art discloses the use of a SET (single electron transistor) for use with a charge transformer and a test circuit (see figure 9), the sensing of the output voltage qualifies the capacitor as being sensed/ tested for proper output voltage and the charge transformer can simply be read as anything that changes/effects the charge on another element. Applicant has failed to clarify any distinguishing features that would put the claims in condition for allowance.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments filed 11-18-2003 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. The term "charge sensitive device" can be applied/ read on by any type of switch and a Kotowski discloses several switches and a test circuit if

6. In response to applicant's argument that the references fail to show certain features of applicant's invention, it is noted that the features upon which applicant relies (i.e., Differently, the cited reference involves converting DC - DC voltages and does not discuss anything about overcoming deficiencies caused by the differences in capacitance between charge sensing devices and device is under test to sense current or anything else for that matter. Instead, the capacitors in the cited reference are used for merely enhancing a DC power supply. This is significantly different than the usage of the capacitors in the presently claimed invention. This is why the presently claimed invention includes the recitation of a charge sensitive device. It is this element that enunciates the inventions application to sensing charge and not merely any application involving switching capacitors between a series state and a parallel state. Although the claims are interpreted in light of the specification, limitations from the specification are not read into the claims. See In re Van Geuns, 988 F.2d 1181, 26 USPQ2d 1057 (Fed. Cir. 1993). In essence, the claims do not claim these features mention above.

7. Applicant's arguments fail to comply with 37 CFR 1.111(b) because they amount to a general allegation that the claims define a patentable invention without specifically pointing out how the language of the claims patentably distinguishes them from the references.

8. Applicant's arguments do not comply with 37 CFR 1.111(c) because they do not clearly point out the patentable novelty which he or she thinks the claims present in view of the state of the art disclosed by the references cited or the objections made. Further, they do not show how the amendments avoid such references or objections.

Conclusion

9. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
